

EUROPE JUST MISSES A WAR.

France and Italy Narrowly Escape Hostilities.

French Warship Sails Into Forbidden Waters.

Italian Commander Withholds Justifiable Shot.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ROME, Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It has just become known that an incident of the utmost gravity, which might have provoked war between Italy and France, occurred recently in Sardinia. It is known that the issue has been settled amicably through the offering of formal apologies by the French government to Italy, but the relations of the two powers are strained.

During the negotiations for the surrender of the Turkish prisoners arrested on the French steamer Manoubra, the French destroyer Languet steamed through the strait of Maddalena, in Sardinia, where are centered the Italian fortifications commanding the strait between Corsica and Sardinia.

The Languet crossed the strait with an air of defiance despite the fact that foreign war vessels are not allowed to cross the fortified zone. It paid no heed to the repeated signals to stop, and hoisted two flags, denoting the name only, when within range of the Italian batteries, as if daring the Italians to open fire.

WITHHOLD FATEFUL SHOT. The Italian commander of the coastal battery known as Bagia's shot fired two blank shots across the bows of the Languet and a loaded shell less than 200 yards in its front, whereupon the destroyer promptly retreated. By slightly adjusting the aim it would have been easy to sink the Languet with a fourth shot. Although such action would have been fully justified, the Italian authorities, realizing that war with France would follow, refrained from exercising their recognized right of preventing foreign warships from crossing the strait.

The so-called traditional friendship of Italy and Great Britain and the cordial relations of the so-called Latin sisters, France and Italy, do not exclude the danger of a Franco-Italian war.

There is no doubt that when the Triple Alliance of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy expires December 31 next, it will be renewed and will continue to form the pivot of its foreign policy.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE IMPERATIVE.

Signor Frederico Di Palma, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, who is well known as an authority on naval affairs, says that the Triple Alliance is indispensable to the maintenance of the so-called Mediterranean balance, which is seriously threatened by France. Italy, he declares, cannot afford to neglect its repeated attempts to acquire and retain absolute naval supremacy in the Mediterranean.

Signor Di Palma points out that France has twelve battleships and fourteen cruisers in the Mediterranean, while Italy has only six battleships and seven cruisers. The Italian inferiority in this respect explains why the Italian government was forced to yield without hesitation to France's presumptuous demands during the recent incidents in connection with the capture of two French steamers off the coast of Sardinia.

Italy's only chance of preventing the Mediterranean from becoming a French sea, says Signor Di Palma, lies in the Triple Alliance. It is imperative that Austria and Italy agree to oppose their combined navies against the French navy in the Mediterranean and strive to make their forces indisputably superior to those of France.

Woman From Portland Is Arrested as San Francisco on Description Furnished by Blackboard.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Eula Ingle, alias Cox, alias also "the woman of the flesh-colored stockings," and consort of Clarence S. Parker, charged with white slavery, was ordered removed to Portland by United States Commissioner Francis Krull today. She and Parker were taken north to-night.

The woman is the wife of a Portland merchant and was arrested with Parker on complaint of her husband. In the information returned by the local marshal's office by the Portland authorities, Mrs. Ingle was described as petite, pretty, black eyed and given to wearing flesh-colored hose. Deputy Marshal Paul Arnerich was detailed to arrest her. He found her and asked her to accompany him to the Federal prison.

Deputy Arnerich believed her to be the woman wanted by the Portland authorities, but was not convinced until he helped her on a street car. She wore a rather short skirt and the deputy could not help observing that she wore flesh-colored hose.

Arnerich was satisfied that the woman was the one he wanted.

Wife of Pardoned Banker-Convict Says He Will Issue First Public Statement in a Few Days—Former Woman Confidential Secretary, Who Testified Against Him, Re-enters His Employ in His Own Home.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles W. Morse was served today in a suit brought in the Supreme Court by the New York Assets Realization Company, F. E. W. Ballou, counsel for the company, refused to discuss the nature of the proceedings. The company took over the holdings of Morse at the time he became bankrupt, but for some reason, which he refused to discuss, he was not allowed to continue in the management of the company. Morse said at her home today that her husband, recently pardoned by President Taft, would issue a public statement next week, the first he has issued since gaining his freedom. Just what the statement would embody, Mrs. Morse said she did not know.

SAYS ROOSEVELT IS OUT OF PRESIDENTIAL ARENA.

Secretary MacVeagh Declares Former President Put Himself on Record Eight Years Ago and Refuses to Believe He Will Try to Defeat His Successor—The Achievements of Present Administration Praised.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LANSING (Mich.) Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of the Treasury, Frank B. MacVeagh, Secretary of the Treasury, firing an administration pre-convention campaign gun here tonight at the annual dinner of the Zach Chandler Republican Club, came out flatly with the expressed belief that Theodore Roosevelt "would not" and with his make-up, could not run against Taft for the Republican nomination this year.

Averring that Col. Roosevelt had placed himself out of the Presidential arena by his declaration of 1904, the Secretary said: "It may be difficult to explain away the present appearances created by Roosevelt's silence and the volubility of his insurgent visitors; but that, to my mind, is not so difficult as it is to believe that Roosevelt would accept a nomination this year under any conceivable circumstances. For it must be admitted that nothing short of a national crisis—such as may come in the future, but is not within the range of sane imagination now—would ever be accepted as justification for such a change of front—and this Roosevelt must know."

PROGRESSIVES DEFINED. The Secretary of the Treasury undertook to define "what is a progressive" by giving to President Taft that title and calling the Republican insurgents reactionaries. His conclusions regarding Republican progressives were epitomized in these words: "There is a class of progressives who give constant emphasis to the title of progressive, but who have not the inevitable scent for progress; and who are liable to turn off and back on the wrong tree—the reactionary tree—now supporting the old logrolling system of tariff legislation and now attacking the Supreme Court. Only present insurgents are of this class."

Mr. MacVeagh argued that President

dimmed record of the two terms he has served.

FRIEND OF ROOSEVELT.

"I was an uncompromising Roosevelt man when Roosevelt was President, and I am his political friend today. And it is because I have so long trusted his political and patriotic instincts that I have not wavered in my belief that Roosevelt would not—and with his make-up, could not—oppose a reason why he should run against Taft."

The record of Taft can not be impeached before the people. And Roosevelt is not, as I measure him, the man to be caught with the thin chaff of a thin opposition movement. There is no progressive crisis in the Republican party—and no progressive quality in the 'anything to beat Taft' idea.

Moreover, Roosevelt has laid down the course of his future political career. He stated himself out of the Presidential arena when he made his declaration in 1904. And he will not come back into it—and surely he ought not to come back into it—to contest for mere political honors not to help a factious revolt, nor for any other reason.

Arizona Issues Invitation to Drink Statehood Toast This Evening.

(A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb. 13.—A resolution adopted tonight by the Admission-Day Committee requested the Associated Press to invite the world to drink a toast on the admission of Arizona and the completion of the chain of States from the Atlantic to the Pacific, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, February 14.

REBELLION SPREADS.

and robbed him of $4000 (Mexican money). Hamilton is a British subject of long residence. He lives opposite the railway station and is agent for the foreign smelter. Night before last the smelter company's store at Kilometer 84, on the Parral and Durango Railroad, was held up by twenty-five armed men. Other outrages on natives are reported. The outrages are being taken up by the British and American ministers in Mexico.

EIGHTEENTH INFANTRY ARRIVES AT EL PASO.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

EL PASO, Feb. 13.—A battalion of the Eighteenth Infantry, accompanied by a machine gun platoon, arrived at Ft. Bliss this morning from Whippoorwill, Ariz., to relieve the Fourth Cavalry now in garrison at Ft. Bliss, so that the cavalry can resume border guard duty in enforcing the neutrality laws.

The rebels still hold the country west of Chihuahua and south of Juarez but appear inactive aside from raiding ranches to replenish their supply of horses' food and ammunition.

From the vicinity of Torreon comes the news that almost the whole country is in arms against the existing government and that there are four times more rebels in arms than there are troops to give protection.

COGNIZANT OF DANGER TO THE AMERICANS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Realizing the danger to American residents in Mexico on account of erroneous press reports telling of proposed intervention by the United States, the State Department today addressed a circular letter to its diplomats and consular representatives in Mexico denying all "foolish stories" about American intervention and expressing the good will and sincere friendship of the United States government for Mexico.

During the Madero revolution the State Department issued a similar circular. Since the present trouble assumed serious proportions, the department has made every effort to stop the stories of intervention by making plain its policy towards the sister republic.

The American representatives in Mexico have been instructed to circulate the note in the press and to use every means to get the denial before the populace.

FRIENDLY TO MEXICO.

In the note the sincerest friendship for Mexico and her people is expressed, with the hope that the blessing of peace will soon return to them.

Mexico's internal political affairs are not a point of concern to this government, according to the note, and the American government demands nothing but the respect and protection of American life and property.

The Mexican government has withdrawn its request to send Mexican federal soldiers through American territory from El Paso, Tex. It appears that a law has been brought to light which prohibits the sending of troops out of Mexico without permission of Congress.

Apparently this statute was unknown during the Madero revolution or was ignored.

LOOSE TALK CONDEMNED.

"Loose talk" by army officers on the situation in Mexico also is a menace to friendly relations, according to Representative Hayden of Texas, member of the House military affairs committee. In a speech in the House today he protested against the incendiary language. Mr. Hayden feared a continuance of such talk "might bring about a situation in which Congress would be forced into war."

Reports to the State Department during the day from Mexico indicated that the situation in the south was substantially the same, though in Vera Cruz, Oaxaca and Michoacan conditions probably were less serious. Anti-American feeling seemed to have arisen at San Luis Potosi.

Foreigners at Colima were reported to fear an outbreak of lawlessness. Considerable apprehension was felt among the Americans at Guanajuato. From Monterrey came a report that bandits had taken some small towns between Parral and Cuatitlan, and that a railroad bridge had been burned.

Telegraphic communications were reported between Torreon, Durango, Chihuahua and Monterrey.

Northwestward signs of continued disorders, the attitude of the American government remains precisely the same and is confined to extreme watchfulness and preparedness for any emergency.

The instructions sent today to almost every American consular officer in Mexico, as well as to the embassy at Mexico City, follow the same line.

"You are authorized officially to deny through the local press and otherwise, as under instructions to do so, all foolish stories of intervention, than which nothing could be further from the intentions of the government of the United States, which has the sincerest friendship for Mexico and the Mexican people, to whom it hopes will soon return the blessings of peace, which are not concerned with Mexico's internal political affairs and which demands nothing but the respect and protection of American life and property in the neighboring republic."

You will observe the strictest impartiality and in no wise interfere between contending forces, counseling Americans in your districts to do likewise. You will use the language of this instruction."

HILL DOESN'T WANT STEEL.Says He'll Be Dead Before

vice on Competition.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—James J. Hill told the Stanley Steel Investigating Committee today that he would be a "first-class angel with red and white wings" before he would go in the steel business, and predicted that competition would be the rule long after the present laws were wiped off the statute books.

Mr. Hill's last day of testimony was replete with the same expressions for which he is noted. He said the stockholders of the Great Northern railroad were not "wearing any crepe" because the United States Steel Corporation in its fight had cancelled the Great Northern ore lease.

"Top will be in a comfortable position no matter whether the lease is cancelled or not, won't you?" Chairman Stanley suggested. "You could start a steel company of your own with 400,000,000 tons of ore in the ground."

"I will be a first-class angel with red and white feathers in my wings long before I ever get into the steel business," Mr. Hill replied. "I'll be 74 years old my next birthday, and I don't mind telling you that I've done about all the hard work I intend to do in life."

COMPETITION WILL LAST.
Just before the railroad builder was excused, Representative Beall of Texas called his attention to the serious nature of the steel corporation, and other business men, to the effect that the day of competition was past, and that the time was at hand when the government must regulate maximum and minimum prices of commodities.

"I think you will have to tame human nature and eliminate all selfish motives that rule human beings and every other form of life, before you will eliminate competition," Mr. Hill remarked. "There will be competition just as long as the doctrine of the survival of the fittest holds, and that will be operating long after all our present statutes have been wiped off the books."

"Do you think, then, it would be unwise for the Federal government to assume control of business?" Mr. Beall asked.

"I think when the Federal government does that, it will be a short step until there will be no Federal government."

"You think that such a government would not be much like a republic?" Mr. Beall asked.

"I would lay down the law of right and wrong," Mr. Hill said. "I would limit the power of corporations. I would see that every corporation that started business put all the money in, and I would not be jealous of the money of the corporation. I wouldn't permit any watering of stock. I would see that 100 cents on every dollar was put up, and that money was on hand to take care of it."

"Well, you tried a railroad combination once, didn't you?" Representative Bartlett asked, referring to the Northern Securities case. "The government did not let you carry it out, and you are still doing a profitable railroad business."

"Yes, and not making any complaint," Mr. Hill said.

Mr. Hill charged the committee that he paid little attention to speculation and that he thought men who made speculative prices in Wall street did not know much about actual conditions in mines 1500 miles away.

He predicted, taking issue with Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, that the ores in the Hill lease, held by the steel corporation as worth $1 a ton, would soon be worth $1.50 to $2 a ton. He also predicted that before many years pig iron could be laid down in Brooklyn from China for $17 a ton.

KNOX REPORT USELESS.
Mr. Hill told the committee that the report of the bureau of corporations, compiled by Commissioner Herbert Knox Smith, on ore values was not worth reading. He said he had gone over part of it and concluded it was of no value.

"Mr. Smith's report may have some facts," said Mr. Hill, "but his conclusions are so far from mine that I could not find it reading."

Representative Ordner of Massachusetts urged Mr. Hill to read the committee the value of his opinion.

"There was a time, years ago," and neither have I time to study the report carefully. My opinion would not be of much value to the committee."

FINES SELF
FOR FIGHT.Judge Adjoins Court to Whip
Man Who Called Him Liar.

Does So, Is Punished.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

MIDLAND (Tex.) Feb. 13.—

[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge

J. H. Knowles laid aside judicial dignity ten minutes here-

today while he beat up a man who had called him a liar.

Judge Knowles was presiding

over the Commissioners' Court.

He remarked a case was unimportant and should be passed. Commissioner Julius

Driver shook his fist and exclaimed: "You're a liar."

Judge Knowles stepped

blithely back to his desk and said: "Court is again in session, gentlemen, let us have order. I fine myself $10 for fighting."

can continue is owned today by

the United States Steel Corporation, with its $1,500,000

in stocks and bonds.

Dowd is to have ore in reserve

for forty or fifty years," said Mr.

Hill.

Well then, why has it canceled the Hill lease?" Mr. Stanley asked.

"I think the officers were scared to death. I think they lost their nerve,"

said Mr. Hill.

The departments of the government have been camping on our trail," said Mr. Reed, counsel for the corporation.

WAS TRUST COMPANY.

Chairman Stanley asked concerning the Great Northern Ore Company, organized by the Lake Superior Company, Limited.

"It was a trust company, pure and simple," said Mr. Hill.

The other companies owned by different companies and the trustees

held the stock for the benefit of the stockholders of the Great Northern railroad."

"What was the capitalization of the Great Northern railroad at that time?"

"One hundred and fifty million dollars,"

"What proportion was held by you and the other stockholders?"

"I hold 100,000. My sons hold 2000

or 3000, I think."

Mr. Hill was asked if the railroad stock at the time sold at 110."

"Oh, they sold as high as 250," he said.

Within sixty days after the announcement of the ore purchase

for $30, a rise from 117," the chairman said, "recalled," said the witness.

"Don't bother myself much about stock, and I don't care for the more less controlled by local conditions."

SAVE TAX FOR ROADS.

GREAT WASTE POINTED OUT.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—As an evidence of waste in this country, Professor Hubbard, chemist of the United States bureau of good roads, today

pointed out the fact that the more than 500,000,000 gallons of tar which could be used in road building is being lost

yearly in the collection of the country. Valued at 24 cents a gallon, this is a monetary loss of $120,000,000.

country in the use of it.

FINANCIER IS SLOW OF SPEECH.

George W. Perkins Reluctant in His Declarations.

Financier at Crown City Refuses to Talk.

Women Object to Voting in City Stables.

(Office of The Times, No. 22, Fair Oaks Ave.)

PASADENA, Feb. 14.—George W. Perkins, the New York financier, who recently retired from active work as a partner in the banking firm of J. Pierpont Morgan and Company, arrived in Pasadena for a brief visit for pleasure only, as he expressed it, yesterday.

He was chary about talking upon public questions last night at the Hotel Raymond, where he is staying. He declined to say how he had been impressed by President Taft's address before the Republican Club in New York last Monday night, or to discuss the subject of the National Reserve Association scheme relative to banking, or other momentous matters, saying that he preferred not to make statements until he could do so after some preparation and after reading the full text of the President's speech. These are troublous times, you know," he said.

"The principle of the government," he continued, "in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco Company cases seems to have been that the government is a solution of the problem. This has turned out to be a mere farce. The Standard Oil Company is broken up into twenty-nine parts, and the price of oil goes up."

In briefly mentioning the Presidential outlook, Perkins said:

"I believe it is a question of principle and platform rather than of men and parties."

He said that it is his intention to remain in the city for about ten days. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Dorothy Perkins, and a sister, Miss Emily S. Perkins.

SITES, IF YOU PLEASE.

Now that bonds for the proposed new garbage incinerator have been voted, the Councilmen are sitting with hands folded awaiting proposals as to sites. None have been made thus far. At yesterday's session the following resolutions were adopted:

"Be it resolved, that the City Council is ready and willing to receive options on proposed incinerator sites, and urges all persons interested in the location of the proposed incinerator to secure and present to the Council such options on or before February 15, the same to be done without expense to the city."

Councilman Rhodes, one of the members of the committee appointed by Mayor Thum to devise a method of selecting a site for the plant, declared yesterday that the Councilmen intend to keep faith with the voters of the city and submit to them the question, but he points out that nothing can be done until definite sites are proposed.

Never again will the fair voters of the city be asked to cast their ballots in stable, feed stores and garages, if Mayor Thum and the Councilmen have their way. They believe that since women are to vote small, neat, but inexpensive buildings should be erected on school or city property equipped as polling places and permanently set aside for that use.

At the end that something definite may be done in the matter as soon as possible, Mayor Thum yesterday appointed the following committee: Councilmen Shutt, Fog and Root. It will be their duty at once to obtain estimates bearing on the cost of construction of such buildings. There are thirty-four precincts in the city and fear is expressed by some that it may not be possible to find a suitable location in each of them. If the buildings are put up they will be leased to the State and county for other than municipal elections.

Despite the fact that a number of friends of Dr. W. A. Boucher, City Veterinarian, were present in the Council Chamber yesterday, the Council enacted the ordinance which legislates the incumbent out of office, since it provides that the holder shall serve all of his term. A Wisconsin man is slated for the place.

The Pasadena Presbyterian Church, where Gipsy Smith, the evangelist, spoke last night, despite its spaciousness, was not large enough to hold half of those who went to hear him. Many remained on the outside for a long time, hoping that they would have an opportunity to enter before he had concluded, but those inside were held spellbound by his wonderful oratory.

Over 200 members of the Shapeweave Club and their friends attended a meeting last night at the clubhouse, at which former Senator Frank P. Flint spoke upon the subject of monetary reform.

The members of the club, since women were enfranchised, have held many meetings at which different phases of national and local matters have been discussed, and last night was one of the most interesting and best attended of them all.

For a second time the public library was burglarized, presumably last Sunday night. The theft was not discovered until yesterday morning, but as Monday was a holiday and the library was not opened, it is believed by the police that the same burglar entered the building who burglarized the South Raymond-avenue houses Sunday night.

All that was obtained at the library was a few pennies which had been left in the cash drawer. Entrance was effected through a window in the juvenile department.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING.

Pasadena Civic Body Meets and Declares in Favor of a Bond Issue.

Pasadena, Feb. 12.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade at the City Hall last evening, E. C. Bichowsky, a member of the Pasadena Committee sent to the recent National Highway Commission gave an interesting report in which the advisability of a bond issue was suggested for the promotion of the highway. He referred to the immense value of the proposed highway to this locality and said that boosters long have been making and every loyal Pasadenian will be expected to wear a button advertising the proposition.

ALMOST BLEEDS TO DEATH.

Prompts Action by Police Surgeon George Lido in a Man Injured in a Street Fight—Long Case.

A salina solution administered by Dr. Carter at the Receiving Hospital kept Joseph Bravella from bleeding to death yesterday morning.

Bravella, a cement worker, living at No. 2429 East First street, fought Pete Olguen in front of the latter's home, No. 122 Castille street. Olguen is alleged to have used a knife on Bravella and is held in the city jail pending an outcome of Bravella's injuries.

When the cement worker was taken to the Receiving Hospital he was bleeding from the head and neck.

Dr. Carter, who is in charge of the hospital, said that the man was in a very bad way, but that the salina solution had done much to stop the bleeding.

The man was taken to the hospital at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. He was found by a patrolman on East First street.

Cascarets Cleanse Liver and Bowels

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a still barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give you a thorough cleansing inside and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your drugist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

bleeding from three wounds of the left side of the face and head, which measured over eight inches in length. He was carefully watched all night, and in the afternoon it seemed safe to remove him to the County Hospital and that was done.

ARRANGE FOR GAS SUPPLY.

Residents of Danversham and Van Nuys Are to Have Benefit of Fuel and Lighting System.

VAN NUYS, Feb. 13.—The Van Nuys News, in its latest issue, says: "Van Nuys and the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands are to have the advantage of gas for fuel and lighting purposes in a short time, if the plans of the Pacific Light and Power Company are carried out."

"The township of Van Nuys has negotiated for a twelve-inch pipe line for the carrying of natural gas to supply this field. The line will enter the valley by way of San Fernando from the north, and it is understood that it will be taken through the Cahuenga Pass to Los Angeles."

"The owners of the lands through which this line is proposed, and who have been approached in regard to the matter, are very enthusiastic over the prospect, and have expressed themselves as willing to lend all reasonable inducements to have this territory supplied with gas. Full details could not be secured for this issue, but the News will keep its readers posted on all developments."

MUST PAMPER HIS WIFE.

San Francisco Husband to Take Her Breakfast to Her in Bed by Courier's Order.

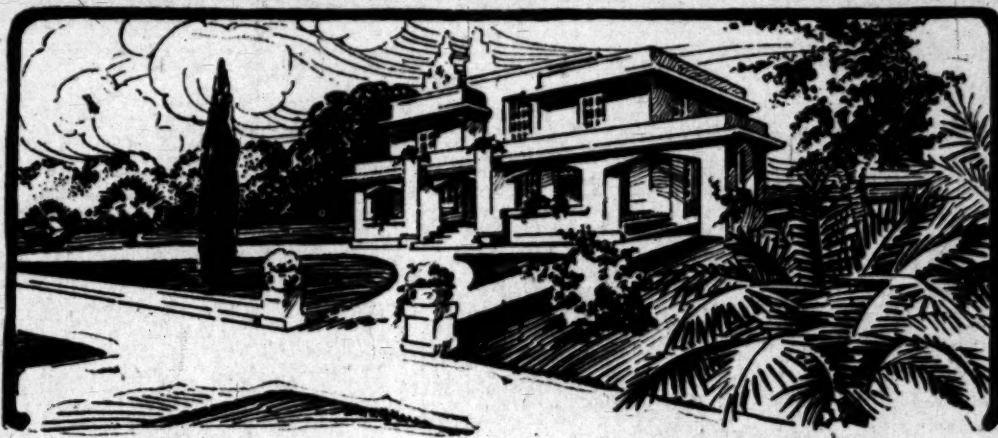

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Mrs. Victoria Herbert was today reconciled to her husband, J. H. Herbert, a butcher, who for the past four months, to last Saturday, has brought her breakfast to bed every morning. Judge Thomas F. Graham brought the couple together this morning in his chambers in the Superior Court.

On Saturday morning, Mrs. Herbert came to court to prosecute her divorce. The witness stand she was cross-examined by Judge Graham, who learned from her that, even that morning, Herbert brought her ham and eggs to the house of Graham.

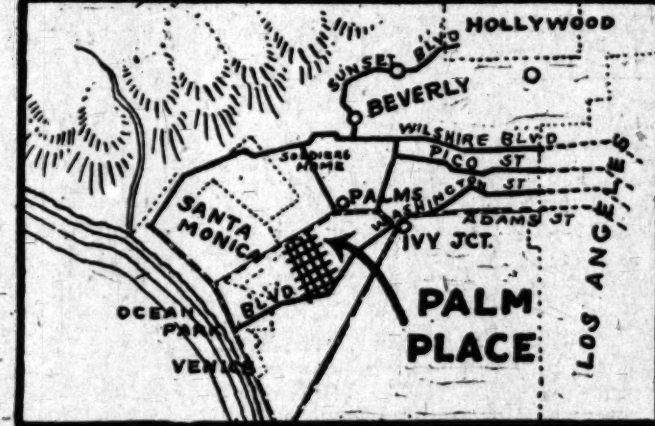

He refused the petition of the wife for divorce, withdrawing that Mrs. Herbert said John only began the practice after she had sued.

After the terms of the reconciliation, Herbert is to continue bringing in his wife's meals when she does not feel well enough to get up, and he told the judge he would do it to do it. He also promised to get a job in a butcher shop, the first time he has done other work than sweep out the home, the wife says, in years.

DIVIDENDS BY THE CENTRAL.

Stockholders Hold Meeting
Near Whittier.

Report of President Neuer Shows Condition.

Oil News of Interest from Fields of State.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Central Oil Company of Los Angeles was held yesterday afternoon at the company's principal office near Whittier. Almost all of the outstanding stock was represented in person or by proxy. Reports of the president, secretary and auditor were read, showing the affairs of the company to be in a very satisfactory condition.

The report of President W. W. Neuer was complete as to detail, reviewing the development work carried on by the Central during the past year
and showing what is now under way.
The wells were completed during the year and eight additional wells are now in process of drilling. One of the interesting features of the president's report was the statement that the company has been for some time experimenting with electricity for drilling, but owing to the high rate of the current supplied, it was probably not as economical as the use of steam.

President Neuer said that of the wells completed, two had been drilled very recently, and of the wells being drilled, two were near completion, so that, while the entire cost of these wells was necessarily charged to development work during the past year, returns would be made during the present year and will, no doubt, be satisfactory, as all of the wells are in demonstrated territory.

He expressed the opinion that the industry in California was in a very satisfactory condition, and he looked for improvement during the present year; that while the amount of production was to some extent a hardship upon the producers in some parts of the state, it was, in reality, a very valuable feature of the business, as it was an absolute guarantee of consumption and a sufficient supply for use by the government and by great private enterprises. In any event, the Central Company had no cause for concern on this account, as the quality of its production was such as to command a very valuable refining oil, and it was marketed at all times at satisfactory prices.

The secretary's report showed total assets for the year 1911 of $415-1, with dividends paid for 1911,
at the rate of 1 1/2 per cent. monthly, amounting to $178,522.75, an excess of $118 of $136,522.75. The books of the company were audited by the Firm A. Baskerville Company, public accountants, the following being in exact from their report, showing their account:

Oil and Gas	$16,527.50
Oil and Gas Sales	$5,771.50
Oil and Gas 1911	105,696.45
Oil and Gas 1912	180,597.42
Oil and Gas 1913	500,725.28
Oil and Gas 1914	178,622.75
Oil and Gas 1915	136,102.81

All of the officers and directors were re-elected, as follows: W. W. Neuer, president; E. R. Lacey, vice-president; J. H. Elliott, treasurer; Robert J. Hall, secretary; and I. A. Lathan,
J. H. Newton and D. C. Sullivan, additional directors.

COALINGA FIELD.

WITH THE COMPANIES.

COALINGA, Feb. 12.—Announcement was made this morning that the production of the Coalinga field, which is located on No. 8, 21-15, has been increased to the Agency-Union, and the elements will be made as soon
as the property can be connected up.
The well is known to what point the oil will be shipped, but it is likely that the present it will be shipped to the Union refinery in tank cars.
The fact that the oil makes it possible to run it with other oil
through the pipe line to San Joaquin valley, although it can be saved in tanks here and run through the line to the coast without very much mixing with the oil preceding and following it.

The price to be paid for the oil has not been made public, but from information made by other marketers it is believed that a good price has been paid by the purchasers.
The well started off with a flow of about one hundred barrels per hour yesterday, but it has since dropped down to about 200 barrels per day. This is about the rate that it has made while it has been flowing, and it has never stopped at this point. This production is made by flowing through the well, and without any agitation of the sand.

Mr. Williams, manager of the Royal Oil Company, who has been working on the well, has uncovered a body of sand under a strata of oil, and at a depth of over 1800 feet. Several light-oil sand formations have been drilled through in the well, and it is now sufficient to make the well a light-oil well.
The well is the place to encountering oil.
However, drilled through the sand, carrying salt water, and into the water will be a light-oil well. The water will be shut off and the sand will be watched.
The well is of great interest to men, who are greatly surprised if a well
is shut in under the salt water.
The standard brought in a well
has oil in that district
the "the brown."

Some test made of the oil
on section 28, 19-15, shows
it to be of a paraffine base and concluded by Standard Oil Company geologists to be the same as that which is found in several test wells and in the Standard test well ago in the bringing in of the oil has been considerable discovery that it is asphalt in the fact that it carried a

TO THE POINT.

President Taft is more than a statesman. He is a lexicographer. His definition of the insurgents as political emotionists or neurotics out-Websters the New Century.

RAPID READING.

A Texas congregation heard the Bible read from cover to cover in a single day. They have not much of an edge on the rest of the world at that, since it will take them a lifetime to understand it.

UNFAIR.

The Springfield Republican thinks that banqueters would be relieved if the Congressional "leave to print" could be extended to after-dinner speakers. We submit that this would be unfair to Chauncey Depew, especially since he has lost his seat in the Senate.

OSCAR'S OPERA.

Oscar Hammerstein hopes to make his cheap opera pay in London by having large houses, and the New York Times suggests that this could be brought about by popularizing the house with the nobility and the fashionable set. To this end we would recommend a liberal system of passes.

SHOULD RETALIATE.

Since some of the women have been granted equal salaries with the men school teachers in New York the male superintendents have forced them to do police duty on the playgrounds of the lower East Side schools. The women should retaliate by forcing the men to teach cooking and fancy needlework.

CONCEDED.

A woman charged with violating the eight-hour law has been acquitted on the ground that she runs a boarding house, which is different from a restaurant. The jury is correct. A boarding house is different from a restaurant. A boarding house is different from every other institution in the world except another boarding house.

BUSINESS EXECUTIVE.

A Gov. Hunt of Arizona will be installed today, and under him the new State should have a sound business administration. Not only has Gov. Hunt been president of a bank for many years, but his interests have been in a large and prosperous mining district. He knows Arizona values as few men in the State and the Board of Equalizers will find in him a safe counselor.

WILL BEAR WATCHING.

The next time three hundred Long Beach boosters start on a tour of Southern California we want a week's notice so that each town can put heavy padlocks upon its industries. No infant industry has any business being on the streets alone with a Long Beach booster in sight. Those people down there would kidnap the factory where stars are made if the angels were not looking.

CLEVER WOMEN.

Women are always clever, but sometimes a situation lets them show it more plainly than on other occasions. Right now the woman suffragists of New York City are using their brains to effect. They have decided to assume some of the duties of civic housecleaning without any other authority than their own good intentions. They will show the men of New York why women want to vote and how they will use the ballot when they get it.

ANOTHER GUESS.

The State Charities Board of New York has made a report on the feeble-minded in which they recommend the segregation of these unfortunate. We do not believe that this is the answer. The feeble-minded constitute a large problem which must find its solution in a more empiric method. They must be treated at childhood to prevent them from becoming an economic burden and a criminal menace to society is to instruct them as far as possible in some original bent of usefulness while they are very young.

NOT GUILTY.

Reports from Guaymas deny that there is any organized depredation on the part of the Yaqui. Little credence should be given any Yaqui stories at this time. That little handful of destroyed people has long been made the scapegoat of Mexican malcontents and both Mexican and United States renegades and outlaws. The Yaqui when let alone is not only a peaceful citizen, but he is the only Indian ever invented who could and who would do a good day's work for a day's pay. Other Indians will work in spots, but the Yaqui will stick to it.

NOT SO WISE.

When Woodrow Wilson threw aside his college cap and gown and went out into the world the light hurt his eyes. New Jersey had discovered Woodrow, but he thought he had discovered the world. A few nights ago he made a speech in which he declared that this is the day of realities because it is the day of exposures. He said that everything in the world is now standardized and unvarnished because all things are now submitted to public gaze. We beg to differ from Woodrow. Everything is not exhibited and understood. As long as half the people are women one-half of the world will remain a mystery.

PREHISTORIC ARIZONA.

Forty-seven great commonwealths are sending today to the sun-kissed forty-eighth a valentine of greeting—"Come in out of the drip, Arizona dear. Come to our huckleberry picnic. In the language of schoolboy Romeos.

"The rose is red, the violet's blue Sugar is sweet and so are you."
Not the least among the many advantages which will accrue to the people of Arizona from the toga virilis which today will be draped upon their shoulders will be the right and power to establish a system of laws for the appropriation and use of the water of non-navigable running streams without danger of such laws being annulled—as Territorial laws could be annulled—by act of Congress.

The valleys of the Gila and the Salt rivers in Arizona were once densely populated by a prehistoric race who left enduring relics of their occupancy in buildings, the walls of which are still standing; in aqueducts, the course of which is still discernible, and in large tracts of land which were evidently artificially leveled and sloped so as to be irrigated. Many years ago the late Gov. Tritle of Arizona, who conducted the survey for what was then known as the Grand Canal in the Salt River Valley, declared that he could not do better than to follow the line of the old Aztec aqueduct.

That agriculture was extensively pursued in Arizona at a remote period, and pursued by means of irrigation, is evident from the vestiges of aqueducts and reservoirs which are spread like a network over her principal valleys. It is not so clear, however, that she was not at one time nearer the sea than now. The ruins of the houses occupied by the prehistoric Arizonian show that the buildings were constructed of adobe or concrete. The materials for most of the buildings may be found close at hand. But there is one ruin in a good state of preservation that confounds the theories and researches of antiquarians. It is in the Huachuca Mountains near the military reservation. It is about 200 miles from the ocean and surrounded on all sides by hills of sand and rocks covered with cacti. There is no water for miles, except a few small streams that run only during the rainy season. Yet the houses are built of sea shells laid in cement. It does not seem possible that the builder of the house would carry the material over hundreds of miles of desert and mountain when there were plenty of rocks near at hand. Even a prehistoric insurgent Arizonian Republican who favored some Roosevelt of his day for President would know better than that.

But while the prehistoric ruins of Arizona may puzzle the antiquarian's research, the promise of Arizona's future is inspiring the hopes of her sons.

Whether the Arizona Legislature shall or shall not at the coming election emerge from the darkness of Democracy into the radiant light of Republicanism it is to be hoped that one of their first tasks will be to seize whatever may remain in their Territorial statutes of tolerance or recognition of the English common law of riparianism, brand it as condemned, kick it into the limbo of things lost on earth and substitute for it a clear, unmistakable recognition and approval of the doctrine of prior beneficial appropriation.

It is upon irrigational agriculture that Arizona must largely depend for the great and prosperous future that awaits her. Mines will in time be worked out and forests will be hewn down, but the soil—rich in plant food—and the life-giving water will remain, and these will secure to the people of the sun-kissed State a prosperity as enduring as her mountains.

This famous Christian evangelist, born in a gipsy tent in England fifty-one years ago; a preacher at 17, before he could read or write; who had never been in a schoolhouse or seen a table or slept under a roof; who had none of the advantages of other boys—this preacher born and bred in the slums, contrary to all rules of theologians and tenets ethical since the days of the Apostles, has brought learning to his feet.

Two hundred educated ministers of Los Angeles attended practically every meeting and with them educators, lawyers and doctors—not as listless bearers of an old story, but enthusiastic listeners to the old Gospel ever new. One Yale man was so impressed with the miracle of the evangelist's education that he wrote to The Times to say that his English is "remarkable," and that "no evangelist ever came to this city with so sane and popular a message."

Exhorting people to higher living; to eliminate from their lives every debasing vice and habit; to live clean lives in the belief of a divine Christ as the only source of strength to resist evil—if he had done nothing else than this, and had there been no outward sign, he must have accomplished incalculable good. Something over 3000 people signed cards saying they had been benefited in various ways and pledging themselves for a better life. Counting noses is a superficial thing, under such circumstances, and in Gipsy Smith's own quaint language, "the number of those moved inside is much greater than those who show the outward sign."

This evangelist's message is simple and wholesome; free from any sort of excitement or sensationalism; with no appeal to fear or hope or reward. It is a simple, straightforward message of love. Charm of voice, a magnetic personality and an effective platform presence will hardly account for the manner in which he commands the attention of men of high station and advanced education. He is a shining example of the axiom that "great men are born, not made." His own explanation was given on Monday night when he said: "My conversion seemed to release my intellect."

Her Valentine.*A LIFE WELL SPENT.

A poet makes the hero facing a terrible crisis say, "To every man death cometh soon or late." It is a common poetical figure of speech to liken human life to a ship that makes a voyage over the ocean. This voyage may be of a week or of a year's endurance. When the ship comes into harbor the quarantine officer who meets her in the morning has no question to ask as to what vicissitudes she passed through. There is no question of the storms encountered, of baffling winds or tedious calms. Not a word is asked of the rocks the ship just escaped, nor of the icebergs that barely missed running her down. The one question which settles the fate of the vessel is this: "Have you a clean bill of health?"

There passed away from among us in Los Angeles two days ago a man whose life voyage was long and eventful. As he entered the harbor of the great eternity and the great quarantine officer met him he could answer without hesitation that he brought with him a clean bill of health.

Our departed friend, Isaac Newton Van Nuy, had reached that ripe old age allotted to humanity by the Psalmist of three score years and ten and then had lingered on for nearly another half score years. He was in his seventy-sixth year when the call came to him from the Master of Life's great feast and said: "Friend, go up higher." The most of these years had been spent continuously right here in the city of Los Angeles. He came as a young man, one might say very young. He passed away ripe in years, rich in experience, rich in this world's goods, but richer in friendships than in all things else. Always an industrious man, no one who knew him would say that for one moment "He lingered superfluous on the stage."

I. N. Van Nuy came to this community not only young, but poor. The community, like himself, was young and poor. Los Angeles contained not above five or six thousand inhabitants, the county not more than twenty thousand, and all Southern California, perhaps, not much over thirty thousand. The small population of the early seventies was dependent upon imports from abroad for its food and for many other products of the soil. Mr. Van Nuy was a farseeing, shrewd man and no idler. The San Fernando Valley when he first looked over it was a cattle range little better than a wilderness. His business sagacity and energy soon started the gang plows ripping up the soil and the seeder scattered the grain. So the wilderness under his capable management was at once converted into an ocean of waving grain, green in the spring time and turning to the yellow of molten gold under the harvest suns. The hum of the reaper and thresher was heard all over the valley and long continuous lines of teams hauled the grain to the mill in the city, where it was converted into flour.

Business sagacity combined with tireless industry gained wealth for this enterprising farmer and this money was at once invested where it was made. The Van Nuy Hotel, built almost a score of years ago, is a monument to the business enterprise and courage of I. N. Van Nuy, and during his declining years his fertile and untiring mind has been given to the maturing of plans out of which is now growing one of the most magnificent business structures in the new Los Angeles.

The success of our friend, who has departed from these familiar scenes forever, was great beyond the average experience even of those who have made fortunes in this rapidly-growing and ever-progressing community. From the mere business point of material success his career was great. But that was the least of his achievement. While a busy, tireless, pushing man, the great thing about I. N. Van Nuy is that he never let his business enterprises obscure or corrupt the finer side of his nature. He was always a just man, a thoroughly honest and most kindly man. Such a life could not fail to draw around it friends, many, tried and true. His family life was an example to the best of us and there he was loved beyond the common lot of humankind. As his body goes down into the dust whence it was raised and as his "spirit returns to God who gave it" thousands of those who knew him will say that this was a life well spent.

IS THIS SOCIALIST MAYOR CRAZY?

If Dr. Lunn, the Socialist Mayor of Schenectady, N. Y., preacher, politician and newspaper proprietor and editor, is not crazy, then his actions since he assumed office on January 1 last belie him. He seeks to establish a municipal bureau to have supervision over the birth and upbringing of the children of the city.

He wants the fire department to neglect its duties requiring constant readiness and watchfulness and put in its time in building skating rinks, and the police department also to neglect ever-present demands for the care of life and property while it manages the aforesaid skating rinks.

He seeks to annul the legally-constituted franchise of a city street railway, which action, if successful, will subject the unfortunate Socialist-ridden city to a recoverable claim for heavy damages, to say nothing of further claims by consenting property owners along the proposed, agreed and necessary line.

He is filling the most important city offices, not with Schenectady citizens who help to pay the taxes, but with Socialist friends of his from other cities.

When city officials, men of years of successful experience in their offices, do not resign at his request, he changes the locks on the doors, puts in his own men and throws the others out into the street, utterly regardless of the civil service law, over which he has no control.

Schenectady taxpayers are now moving (as they successfully did in Milwaukee under like circumstances) to have Dr. Lunn's "imported" officials ousted under the non-residence statute, particularly his Milwaukee Commissioner of Public Works, his Boston Commissioner of Charities, and his Hoosick Falls City Engineer.

Dr. Lunn secured his office as Mayor by the use of his tongue as a glib speaker, by the writing and publishing of inflammatory articles in his paper, by the prostitution of his pulpit in the preaching of Socialistic-anarchistic sermons (he was put out of one of the best pulpits in the city for that), and by pandering to the rabid union labor element of this once prosperous city, doomed now to two years of Socialist misrule and incipient anarchy.

December 5 last was a red-letter day for Los Angeles in that by the overwhelming vote of its best citizenship, men and women, it escaped Schenectady's unfortunate fate, and gloriously routed the Socialist-anarchist red flag of Harriman (attorney for the confessed dynamiters) and his cohorts.

BURDETTE AT THE BAT.

CHXX.
Mainly About Preachers.
The other day a burglar in Portland broke into the residence of rather the house-ministers have no residences—of a preacher and, being captured, as any slinger is liable to be who falls into the clutches of the clergy, pleaded that he committed the burglary because his family was starving. The clergyman whose house was entered, but not robbed, pleaded for mercy for the burglar. Sure, the poor man is crazy. Stark, raving, demented. Burglarize a preacher's house to get something to eat? Why didn't he wait and go there with a donation party and eat everything there was in the house? Or, why didn't he go there as a delegate to something or other and live with the parson for a week? Or why didn't he just drop in three times a day for a friendly call just before meal time? There are half a dozen legitimate and honorable ways of plundering a preacher's pantry and ice-box without resorting to burglary, which is decidedly wrong, if not absolutely sinful. One of these foolish ways some crazy burglar, pinched with hunger, will break into an editor's house. Then he will starve to death sure. Unless he can find his way out before he gets to the kitchen.

A Man With a Message.

He came here with none of the machinery and stage paraphernalia that so frequently moves with the itinerant evangelist. No corps of press agents; no moving-picture mechanism; no spotlight forever focusing the speaker; no dramatic attitudinizing; no praying before the camera; no exhibit of rescued souls and grateful converts; none of the circus equipment for the capture of the town that often makes the judicious gripe. Just Gipsy Smith with a message not his own and as plain as the gospel he preached. A great chorus choir, a singing congregation; hymns with the gospel in them sung to familiar tunes; a chorister, who was a soloist with himself, and a man very like himself, who preaches the gospel in song and who has the rarest genius known among soloists in such meetings, that of knowing when to appear and when to utterly efface himself—B. P. Stout. And that was the organization, supported by the voluntary co-operation of the city pastors and their churches—a regular general commanding a corps of volunteers. A score of the greatest orators in the United States, speaking on topics of contemporaneous interest could not have attracted and held the audiences that for two weeks have crowded the largest auditoriums in this city, two and three times a day, to hear Gipsy Smith preach the newest thing on earth—a gospel two thousand years old. His power over the immense congregations was that of genuineness and sincerity. How men do love a sincere man. This man leaves behind him no receding wave of depressing reaction for tired pastors to counteract. He leaves a living inspiration. He will be lovingly remembered. For years to come evangelists who visit this city will be compared with this clear-minded, simple-hearted man who brought his Master's message. And it will long be remembered that the great Shrine Auditorium was as much overcrowded when it cost 25 or 50 cents to get in on the night when admission was free. Mark Twain once said that nothing on earth has such a refining effect on an audience as a dollar admission. Gipsy Smith's congregations stood the test of refinement. A likeable man and a lovable man. A man genuinely fond of people. And that makes people sincere fond of him. Los Angeles is a better city today for his coming. All journeying mercies go with him and his!

We usually expect the best things to be given away freely. But what is the best selling book in the world? Once in a while some ambitious publisher announces a new book which will enlighten and hold the thinker and hold the attention of the intellectual world for coming ages, or less. He prints 10,000 copies, sells 3000 and sends the rest to the paper mill. But last year one publishing house in New York sold a kind of new way but sold 2,326,531 volumes, consisting of the entire Bible, 327,636 copies; the New Testament, 543,743 copies; portions of the scriptures, such as Psalms; the book of Job, the gospels, etc., 1,553,452 copies. That is the best seller of the year. People buy it year after year more than they buy any other book.

In ninety-four years that one publishing house, the American Bible Society, has sold over 80,000,000 of Bibles. Talk about your best sellers. There is only one book in the world that people really care to read. The other day, over in Pecan, Tex., at a public exhibition, lightning reading, sixty people, working in relays, read the entire Bible through in one Sabbath day from 6 a.m. to 12 midnight. The most worthless and senseless use probably ever made of the Bible. Because the papers laid out that readers and congregation were like exhausted at the close of the stunt. The Bible isn't meant to weary people to exhaustion. It is intended to rest them and to strengthen them. And it was never written to be read through in a day. It is reading for a lifetime. And some of it, say the seventh and eighth chapters of First Chronicles, were never written to be read at all as a twentieth century religious exercise. Say, when the Texas deacon read about those two or three chapters about Rephah and Jibsam, Izrahiah, Jeser, Elloah, Huplim and Shuplim, Zolophah, Abitub, Shamsheah and Shehariah, Hashabiah, Meheleah and Bakbakar, I don't suppose there was a dry eye in the wigwam. And did the children laugh, or were they rather edified? I used to know a boy who did laugh when some old-time deacon who laid great emphasis on that assertion of Paul that "all scripture is given by inspiration and is profitable for doctrine, reproof, correction and instruction in righteousness" let the book fall open at one of these chapters and broke his jaws all the way through as he stumbled over the ancient names. It is told of a discouraged old hardshell of this sort who went on the reef about the tenth verse looked ahead over the breakers and, seeing no sign of relief, closed the book, saying "And so, my brethren, they went on and beat one another to the end of the chapter." Yes, I used to know a boy who laughed at that sort of "Bible reading." Was he a bad boy? The worst in school, children, and the second worst out of it. Did he get better as he grew older? No, indeed, he grew rather the worse. For he found no real things in this world to cry over that he got to laughing at nearly everything.

Speaking of Good Things.
We usually expect the best things to be given away freely. But what is the best selling book in the world? Once in a while some ambitious publisher announces a new book which will enlighten and hold the thinker and hold the attention of the intellectual world for coming ages, or less. He prints 10,000 copies, sells 3000 and sends the rest to the paper mill. But last year one publishing house in New York sold a kind of new way but sold 2,326,531 volumes, consisting of the entire Bible, 327,636 copies; the New Testament, 543,743 copies; portions of the scriptures, such as Psalms; the book of Job, the gospels, etc., 1,553,452 copies. BERTHENE.
She stood upon the Turkish rug.
A silken dream—a sweet surprise.
With laughter lurking on her eye.
And mischief dancing in her eye.
A peri fit with queen's attire.
Among the brightest stars in all the firmament she has scarce the right.
To write for her a valentine.

Some girls are serious, some dreamy.
Some like poetic fancies weave.
But I prefer the life and stir.
In Berthene's merry make-believe.
Her wild infectious witching ways.

None anywhere could find so rare.
A picture for a valentine.

Where Berthene reigns, come
To see her favor would
Who to her favor would
The motto must hover near
And children love to play
It sometimes leads to broken
But, make of break—'I swear to
You only for my valentine.

NOT STATE'S TO SELL.

Municipal Property Cannot Be Sold by the Higher Agency for Delinquent Taxes, Holds Supreme Court.

In the case brought by J. H. Smith against the City of Santa Monica, to quiet title to two lots in that municipality, the Supreme Court yesterday laid down the doctrine that the State cannot sell municipal real estate delinquent in taxes. In the lower courts the judgment was for the defendant and the Supreme Court affirms that view of the case.

One of the two lots involved was sold to the State for delinquent taxes in 1896 and the other for the same reason in 1895. Santa Monica brought an action in 1895 to condemn the lands for public purposes as a city park. The judgment in the city's favor was entered December 20, 1897. At the time of the sale made to Smith, the title, excepting such title as the State itself acquired by the deed of the tax collector to it, was vested in the city collector. To enforce the payment of State and county taxes the State sold into private ownership the public property of one of its municipalities.

The court holds that it is well settled that an assessment for taxes levied upon public property of such mandatory agency is void. It also holds that the limited title which the State holds has been merged in the title which the municipality has acquired. The money made a charge upon the property is a charge upon the State. The court also holds that the control of the property is in the city, and the sale pursuant to such order illegal.

TAKE UP ALLEGED FRAUDS.

United States Grand Jury Calls Witnesses Against Land Dealer and Accused Desert Locators.

The United States grand jury yesterday took up the case against A. B. Edler, the San Diego man charged with using the United States mails for a scheme to defraud. Witnesses are present from Salt Lake, where Edler was formerly health officer and for several years practiced law, and from San Diego, where he is accused of carrying on fraudulent land deals. Edler was also known as Floyd Scott and it is alleged that various deeds purporting to describe his lands bear other aliases.

The firm of Scherman & Chatt, alleged desert locators, will also be investigated by the present grand jury on three charges—using the mails to defraud, perjury and subornation of perjury. The grand jury is also investigating an alleged contest on eighty acres that Rufus Shattuck had paid the firm $400 as location fees. Perjury is alleged in the case of Chatt in swearing to an affidavit in the contest, and Scherman, subornation of perjury in inducing Maurer, the supposed contestant for the land, to sign a statement alleged to have been false.

THE ARIZONA JUDICIARY.

Private Inside View of the Situation As It Stands.

(From a Private Letter.)

February 11, 1912.
My Dear — The "state" is that the Federal judgeship shall go to Sloan. Personally I think it nothing more than just, for he has held the abominable and ill-paid job of Governor much longer than he had expected when he accepted it at the personal solicitation of President Taft. Sloan did not want to leave the bench of the Fifth District, where he was comfortable in work that paid him well and with which he was well suited. Here he has had hell-and-repeal. He is being opposed by the populist, who claim he has been a creature of the mysterious "interests," and a couple of Prescott attorneys are filing charges. In the hope of beating his confirmation, with Democratic and "progressive" help, Cameron, the Congressman whose term is going out with statehood, is said to be pushing Judge E. M. Doe, whom he landed in Sloan's judicial place in Prescott, when the latter was appointed Governor. Judge Kent, present Chief Justice, would be appointed to the Federal bench were Roosevelt in the

"Plumpness of Figure Very Easy to Acquire," Says Beauty Authority

Here is a Simple Way to Fill Hollows and Round Out the Form Without Massaging.

"Unshapely figures are easily corrected," says Madeline Maree. "The Vaucaire method is not only correct, but quite simple, and any woman can prepare her own treatment by dissolving one-and-a-half cups of sugar in a pint of water, to which is then added an ounce of gallol. Two tea-spoonsful before each meal is the dose."

"When this treatment is employed, the shrunken and starved tissues are energized and soon made healthy and responsive. After a short while they assume their true proportions and a beautiful and symmetrical figure results."

LOS ANGELES LONG AGO.

Police Judge Rose is the proud possessor of a reproduced drawing of a well-defined vista of Los Angeles as it appeared in 1852. He had the picture framed and yesterday was exhibiting it to his friends in his chambers at the Central Police Station. The view of the then sparsely-settled town was from Fort Hill, now known as the Broadway hill. In those days Broadway was Fort street because it ran up to the little fortification on the crest of the hill. Looking down upon the town, which then evidently contained less than 1000 souls, is seen the Mission looking east over the Plaza, with what appears to be government barracks in the distance. To the right is a large building thought to be a house and to the south a number of one-story adobe. Los Angeles was then, according to this picture, so small that well-defined streets were unknown. Judge Rose prizes the picture highly, and will give it a conspicuous place in his home.

FATAL CARD GAME.

Louis Williams, colored, known to the police as "Frog," was fatally shot during a card game early yesterday morning in George Butt's room at No. 517 1/2 Turner street. The man died soon after being taken to the Receiving Hospital. Callus Branbette, colored, is held by the police pending the outcome of the coroner's inquest. He is charged with having shot Williams. The man was shot in the jaw and in the right shoulder.

ASKS LARGE DAMAGES.

Judge Wellborn and a jury in the United States District Court are hearing the evidence in the action brought by James Cerny against the Salt Lake Railroad to recover $20,000, alleged to be due as a result of an accident at Salt Lake, April 11, 1910, where Cerny was employed as a bridge builder.

THIS WILL QUICKLY MAKE A ROUGH PIMPLY SKIN SMOOTH AND VELVETY

How You Can Make a Pint of Fine Face Cream at Very Little Cost.

Beauty experts say rough, pimply skins quickly yield to massaging with cerol, becoming clear and velvety, and as this costs little and is easily prepared, it should find a place on every woman's dresser.

To make, get 2 ounces of cerol from the druggist and dissolve in a scant pint of boiling water, stirring until smooth. When massaged in the skin it removes all impurities, preventing and dispelling wrinkles and giving complexion an exquisite bloom and refinement impossible with artificial aids. Men frequently use cerol cream after shaving, as it soothes smarting, itching skins.

When You Go East

Generally expect to include in your tour a number of the big cities of the East. It is desirable to be ticketed over a railroad that will include many of these cities as possible at one integral fare; certainly it is more convenient to use one comprehensive Eastern Railroad System than several different roads.

I'LL FIGHT LANGFORD OR FLYNN IN LOS ANGELES

Leap Year at the Kilbane Camp.

Johnny and the Orpheum Boxing Girl.

Yesterday, one of Roehm's athletic girls from the theater went down to Venice and boxed a couple of rounds with the challenger of Abe Attell, Johnny Kilbane.

Wish Gratified.

HOW I BOXED WITH JOHNNY KILBANE; LEAP YEAR BOUT.

BY HELEN BOTNER.

I HAD a leap-year boxing match yesterday.

After our act closed at the Orpheum yesterday afternoon, I went down to Venice in an automobile with some of the other girls to the fight camp.

I had a secret in my heart: I wanted to box Johnny Kilbane. I figured that, about next Friday morning, he may be the featherweight champion of the world. I would like to say that I had boxed with the featherweight champion of the world.

We found Mr. Kilbane in the training-hall; it was a big gloomy room full of men and dimness. In the center was a big ring in which two men were boxing.

The manager presented Johnny and I made my leap-year boxing proposal to him. To tell the truth, he looked perfectly shocked.

"We couldn't do it here," he gasped. "Come down to the cottage where my wife is."

I walked down to the cottage and the maid showed me where I could change my clothes and put on my fighting togs. Johnny was nowhere to be found. We waited so long that I had about given him up for lost and was thinking ruefully of leap-year, when he finally came along. He was walking with the eager gait of a little boy going to school on Monday morning. I guess he was shy.

We finally put on the gloves and just as we did so, a horrible thought came into my mind. I happened to think of a picture I once saw of Mr. Joe Rivers sitting on the ground with a vacant stare in his eyes. And I remembered that he had just been knocked out by Johnny Kilbane, when the picture was taken.

"Goodness," I thought, "suppose he should swing one of those at my jaw!"

I think that I gave a little gasp and asked him not to hit me hard, but I might have saved my breath. He didn't hit me at all. And I shall have to confess that I didn't hit him either. I tried to—he was too polite.

Boxing with a girl on the stage is one thing and boxing with a prospective champion is another. Every time I hit at him he miraculously wasn't there.

When I began to box, I happened to think of the clinches and it made me blush and apprehensive, but Johnny wasn't romantically inclined. He was more school-teachery than anything else.

When I tried to hit him he would frown and say, "Here; that isn't the way to hold your hands. Turn your glove this way when you strike."

If he thought I was filling me with gratitude he was very much mistaken. It made me mad. I thought I was some boxer when I went down and it made me feel chagrined.

And what do you think he said to me, who had gone down half expecting to othipoint the prospective champion of the world.

He said, "If you got a good boxing-teacher and tried hard, you might be able to learn to box some day. You learn things very quickly." Now what do you know about that?

In Training.

BALL PLAYERS START EARLY WORK-OUTS.

ANOTHER small bunch of ball players are to appear at the new Washington Park this morning for practice and the chances are that if any of the local fans care to see the old boys this early in the season they will have a chance from now on.

The light work some of the players are doing now is what the society editors would call entirely informal, for none of the boys are obliged to train this early. They are doing some stunts just for exercise, for the regular local training season is not scheduled to begin for three weeks.

Six or seven of the boys were out yesterday, Delhi and the two Brashears being among those present, but there was little done aside from throwing the ball around. Hap Hogan intends to take another chance at practice this morning and a dozen of the boys may be on hand. Patterson, Hogan, Burrell, Gray, McDonnell, Kane and the Brashears have taken up the early training cure and others are expected to join the crowd every day.

Alizer was in town from San Bernardino for a few hours on business and expects to start East in about one month. He seems to be in good physical condition and good for a number of years in baseball.

Tom Tennant thinks someone must be crazy in believing that he is to be transferred back from St. Louis to San Francisco. He stated yesterday that he had a letter from Hedges telling him when and where to report and this letter was written several days after the story came out that he was to come back to San Francisco. He is not a bit anxious to return to the Seals and would welcome a change to the East.

McCarley, shortstop of the Seals, showed up at headquarters yesterday from Imperial and will remain in town for several days visiting friends before going to San Francisco. He has been playing winter ball in the Imperial Valley and is in good shape, for he has taken off a lot of fat.

A great crowd gathered at the Kilbane camp yesterday to see Johnny working out.

Tommy and Bill Papke were also working. There was even more curiosity to see Papke in action than to see the Kilbanes at work.

Papke made a poor showing in the first round of his work with Tommy Kilbane, but rapidly improved and by the third round was going like the old-time Thunderbolt.

Harlem Tommy Murphy and a lot of fight experts were at the ring and I found they were all surprised at the showing Papke made. There seemed to be some fight still left in him.

Bill will have to close his camp here and go at once to Sacramento on account of the ultimatum of the Sacramento people.

He will be sorry to do this, as he needs to be near Tom Jones and Tom can't go. In Tommy Kilbane, Papke has found just the boy who can give him the round work necessary.

Tommy had him working like a fire engine.

Johnny is a boy who never brags beforehand; but believe me, he can look at the calendar and not blink when he sees the figure 22 staring back at him from the February sheet.

I doubt if he ever was more confident of a fight. Like Abe Attell, clever boxers don't worry him at all. I believe, right now, that Johnny would rather meet Abe than he would Rivers.

Some day another boy may come along who will give Joe Rivers another knockout; but I guess his name is not Jack White. From all that is told of him by boys who have fought with him, Jack is not likely to go home with a Spanish scalp in his belt. He's a good boy; but he doesn't seem to be good enough. Leastwise, that's what they say.

Gus Ruhlin, the heavy-weight who was called the "Akron Giant," dropped dead yesterday in New York.

Today, Paaky McFarland fights Eddie Murphy in South Bend, Ind. The fight will be watched with much interest in this city because Murphy wants to come to Los Angeles and take on Freddie Welsh or Ad Wolgast. Eddie must be pretty good for Paaky McFarland undoubtedly "ran out" of that match with Young Ernie in order to save himself for tonight's fight.

Willie Ritchie, by the way, has decided that, after all, he isn't vexed at Emil Thiry and that they are "old chums;" and he will continue to fight under his management.

Bombardier Wells, on further investigation of himself, has discovered that he didn't come over to fight Jack Johnson after all. He just came over for pleasure. Well, have a good time, Bomby.

Fedlar Palmer is coming over from England again to get what fights look good to him.

Jack Curley can't seem to get it in his head that nobody wants to see this wretched Flynn-Johnson fight. He is reported as having come back to Chicago yesterday, ready to post forfeits for the battle. He states that no definite place has, as yet, been settled upon. No, and none ever will be.

Developments in the formation of the new Columbian league seem to consist mainly of managers throwing up their prospective contracts and backing out. The Columbian league appears so move back like the lowly crab.

TOMMY BURNS WOULD COME.

Wants to Meet Any Well-known Heavy.

Is Sure He Can Beat Sam Langford.

McCarey Says "Start With Jim Flynn."

BY TOMMY BURNS.

[Former Heavyweight Champion.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] I would be willing to fight either Langford or Jim Flynn in Los Angeles, if satisfactory arrangements could be made.

I had a little misunderstanding with McCarey, who conducts things fairly in the Southern California metropolis, which will have to be straightened out.

The trouble dates back to the time when I returned from Australia at the time of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. We had a difference of opinion as to whether he should allow me transportation from Australia or not. Until this matter is straightened up, I shall not talk business with him.

As far as the fight itself is concerned, I am willing to fight either Langford or Flynn or any of the other prominent heavies.

I expect to leave soon for Australia to meet the winner of the McVey-Langford fight, which is scheduled by Hugh McIntosh for Easter Monday.

If the Flynn or Langford fight can be arranged for Los Angeles, I am willing. I am working out every day here in a gymnasium and am working into fine trim. I weigh 192 pounds now and expect to get down to 187 for fighting weight.

I am not going to do as Jeffries did. I am going to come back gradually, taking my time. I feel good now and regaining speed right along.

My knee, injured in a street car accident last year, no longer bothers me. I am confident I can beat Langford. Today I declined an offer to go East and meet Carl Morris. He does not look like a good drawing card as yet. Later I may take him on.

McCarey SAYS TO TRY FLYNN FIRST.

Tom McCarey said last night that he would be willing to give Tommy Burns a fight in Los Angeles if he and Burns could come to an agreement.

He said he did not think it advisable, however, to put on a bout between Tommy and Sam Langford at present.

"In the first place," he said, "I am not sure that a fight between a white man and a negro would be well received by the people here. In the next place, I want to be assured that Burns has really 'come back.'"

"Before he gets a fight with a man as good as Sam Langford, he ought to take on Jim Flynn and demonstrate to the public that he can still fight."

"Let Us Have Peace."

OXY STANDING
ON DIGNITY.Difference Will Come to an Issue Soon.Pomona Has Come in, and
Why Not Tigers?U.S.C. Offers Reasonable
Terms of Peace.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

It has been said off and on, through these columns, that order was being brought out of chaos in regard to the local intercollegiate situation, but at the present time there is considerable chaos.

The trouble at the present time is not with student feeling, but with the will of the powers that be in the ruling factions at these places of learning. Intercollegiate sport here is like a boy who has grown out of short pants and is ready for long trousers. But his parents are loath to admit that the boy is fast reaching man's estate and therefore will not take the step until forced to by some undeniable circumstance brought up through outside conditions.

OLD DAYS PAST.

The local question has outgrown the old-time conference. In the first place, the day of the college ringer is past, and every man who is now in college is there to get his education, and when there for any other purpose is soon discovered and kicked out. Then the day of the southern university has arrived and U.S.C. is now a full-fledged institution of this sort. Again, the other colleges, who aim to give only an academic course in liberal arts, cannot make enough good competition among themselves. Once more, the public has come to look for big games of local interest and not for thrills in the North, over 500 miles away for real college sport. Here Stanford and Berkeley fight it out each year.

The high school boy wants interest here at home and when he gets it, will attend a southern college, rather than an eastern or northern university. At the present time there are 350 southern athletes in the two northern universities, and if we had them here it would boost the standing of the local colleges about 50 per cent. Now the South is just a feeding ground for many of the larger colleges in other places.

The light has been seen by Pomona and Oxy during the past week, and they are both striving for something that will place them in line with the rest of the colleges of the land. U.S.C. has been working along this line for the past two seasons, due to the great work of Manager Warren Howard, who has developed a wonderful insight on this subject.

OXY NEEDS PUBLICITY.

Occidental came out last week for a new order of things, but when the matter was given a little publicity they took offense at the measure and right away were afraid that they had had their toes stamped on.

Last Saturday Pomona showed, by many instances of student opinion and faculty interest, that the Blue and White college was willing to listen to reason. In fact, the rules submitted by the University of Southern California at this time, for a possible agreement, were almost identical with those drawn up by Manager Howard and the writer some time ago, when this situation seemed to be looming up for a definite issue.

The whole situation is this. The university is willing to meet Oxy and Pomona on the same basis that holds for them with Stanford and Berkeley. They want to be admitted to the conference as a university and will not come in under any other conditions. Oxy wants to have the old games renewed, but does not like to think that its dignity has been stepped on. Pomona is ready and it will only be a matter of the ratification by the faculty and U.S.C. and the Claremonts will be meeting again. Pomona and U.S.C. are coming together anyway, and Oxy can come along too, on the same lines, where no favorites will be played over the boards.

The university will only men who are students in good standing. Pomona will do the same and Oxy has always done this. U.S.C. don't care much how the other colleges come on the field, just so there is a good team out, and the U.S.C. team is made up of eligible men.

The way to bring about relations is to form separate contracts with each college and then fix up something in the way of an agreement to cover a possible conference meet, but to try and fix up the old agreement, would be like waving a red rag in front of a bull.

COMBINATION FOR RESULTS.

If a settlement is soon reached, there can be a combination against the North with great results. Pomona at the present time is stronger than at any time before in its history. U.S.C. is well on its battle legs, but Oxy is the weak sister. They were beaten last Saturday afternoon by the Los Angeles High School, which has a weak team this year, while on the other hand, U.S.C. and Pomona have defeated the Citrus Union High School by good scores and this High School has the strongest prep squad in the South this season. This all goes to show that if Oxy would get in once more with the others, the competition would be keen, and the old saying of, "in union there is strength" would again be shown. Last Saturday a number of the Pomona athletes told the writer that they were looking for games with U.S.C. and the North because Oxy was not good competition any longer. Now the Tigers were hard stuff in the past and if they would only get in the game again, this would be the case once more, but the Tigers need outside stimulation at the present writing. There is nothing to fight for or against out at Highland Park now, but give these Tiger men a chance and there will be some smoke. Nobody wants to knock any other colleges, but everyone would like to see all the petty matters laid aside for one season at least and let's have a little of the old-time sport.

What is fair for Pomona should be fair for Occidental, so if these two will only get together with U.S.C., the matter can be fixed in one afternoon's sitting. None of the colleges in the new agreement, will be made to do anything that the rest are not required to do and for this reason there should be no trouble in settling the matter at once.

The question will be brought to an issue within the next few days.

Putting a Middle-Weight Into Shape.

Bill Papke (Left) and Tommy Kilbane.

Who are working out together at Venice. Papke surprised every one yesterday with his rapid improvement from one round to another. Tommy Kilbane, able to take rough punishment, gives him just the work he needs.

All Anxious.

MANY TRADES POSSIBLE
IN AMERICAN LEAGUE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] American League baseball magnates began gathering today to attend the annual schedule meeting tomorrow, which President Ban Johnson has called for 1 o'clock at the Congress Hotel. Four clubs, St. Louis, Washington, New York and Cleveland, were represented in the advance guard, and all seemed to be in a trading mood. That apparently explains the early arrival.

Manager Callahan, talked to the visitors over the telephone and then managed to escape without losing any of his White Sox stars. At that time he was in the field for a trade, but does not think he can execute it because all the traders are after his prize stock, providing he can get a sterling infielder or catcher in exchange. Otherwise he is willing to stand pat on his squad and begin the new pennant fight.

Col. R. L. Hughes and his trusty manager, Bob Wallace, made the biggest showing among the advance guard. They were in a receptive mood to talk trade to any one, and for two hours in the morning they had Clark Griffith of Washington cornered in a room in the hotel trying toicker him out of a catcher.

Wallace has five left handed pitchers and does not know what in the world to do with them. He asked waivers on four of them and all were claimed by different American League clubs. This made it appear that he could put through a trade but the "Little Corporal" declares that when he talks trade everyone wants to hand him dead ones, as if he didn't have enough of that variety in the Mound City already.

Out to Win.

METHODISTS WILL MIX IT WITH HIGH SCHOOL BOYS.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

NEXT Saturday afternoon the Los Angeles High School track and field team will lock horns with the U.S.C. cinder aggregation on Boulevard field. The Methodists are out to win and win big at that, owing to the fact that last Saturday the High School team held the Tigers and then beat them by one point. It was supposed that the High School was weak this season and that Oxy was a little better than last year, but the dope went wrong somewhere and there was quite a platter of beans spilled.

Now U.S.C. knowing that the High School ought to be weak and knowing that Oxy ought to be stronger, are not going to take any chances with this prep school bunch, but are going out to score early and often.

The track team of the university has been rather standing still of late and it would behoove them to stir a little in the next few days, as there is one big schedule in front of the wearers of the spikes. The coach is working hard, as Dean Cromwell always works that way, but the men have been a little lax of late. There is lots of time now and the way they are working for this L.A. meet wipes out all the shadows.

Last Saturday Livernash and Linton Smith were absent when the roll was called for the meet with Manual Arts and Ben Ward also turned up missing. We can't have you put this time, boys.

Captain Ralph Noble of the Los Angeles High School told everybody before the meet with Occidental that the Hill Top men would not have a chance this year with any of the local teams, then, just by way of a surprise, he took the meet from the Tigers by one point. There are no stars on the High School team this season, but there is a galaxy of steady pluggers and it is this kind of track men that brings home the bacon in the long run.

The university team will hit the cinders in full force for the first time this season and we are able to get a line on the chances of the Cards through the coming season. The meet will be called at 2 o'clock, at which time the hammer throw will be started, then Throp and Johnson will start over the hundred and here will be one of the best meets of the day. Little Johnson put it all over Baer of Oxy last Saturday to the surprise of the fans, who had expected to see him come in at least second in the race. Johnson is a fast boy and is getting faster every year.

CASTLETON PLEASED WITH VERNON TERMS.

Another rumor is flying around the streets that Hap Hogan is trying to trade Roy Castleton to Rochester for Dolly Gray. Of course this is a joke.

"Why, Castleton has not figured in any trade," declared Hogan yesterday. "He did not get the contract I sent him to Salt Lake and the letter was sent back to me. He then wanted to be declared a free agent because he had not received a contract by February 1, but I was able to show that I had sent a contract in plenty of time to his last known address."

"A few days ago I received a telegram from him saying that he would willingly play with Vernon so we are sure of him."

Mr. Wad Receives Another Setback to His Photographic Aspirations!

DE WITT VAN COURT'S COLUMN.

James Carroll, the San Francisco featherweight, who passed through Los Angeles last Sunday, met Jimmie Jones in New York after his return from "Old Lunnion." Carroll says that Jimmie is fat and quite gray. Carroll also says that there are as many fighters around New York as there are people in Los Angeles.

It was reported a few days ago that McLean, the big heavyweight amateur boxer of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, was about to turn professional.

McLean denies this and says that he never thought of doing so. This is the second report of amateurs turning professional, within the last few months.

One of the kind of amateur boxing is a thing that is not for professionals. Amateur boxing as it has been conducted by the Los Angeles Athletic Club is cleaner than any other branch of athletics. The boys enter into it for the love of it and the prizes are a secondary consideration.

Prof. Harry Uytendhove, the fencing master of the L.A.A.C., received a report from San Diego for a set of the fencing fencing matches. Prof. Uytendhove and Prof. Von Wilhelm are matched to fence at San Diego in a few days.

Happy Luckie was called north a few days ago and had to leave Roscoe Taylor without a manager. Here is a man for some good manager to get a good fighter. Taylor is one of the best lightweights in the country. He is a good hitter and fights more like a heavyweight than any boy I have ever seen. Taylor can take it, too. If some good man would take charge of him and train him properly, he would stand a fine chance with any of his class.

The French sports are still having trouble with their referees. No two of them seem to agree on the rules or how the points should be counted. One will give more credit for a punch than another. Another will give credit for aggressiveness and still another for defensive work. Others simply count the last few rounds.

The English critics say that they have a self-appointed federation in France to govern boxing, but there is no one in it that understands the rules.

It has been suggested that they appoint three men, one each from America, England and France; but so much of these would probably see things as they do in their own country that they would solve the problem.

They get terribly excited at times when the referee reserves his decision until the next day fearing his life will be cooled down.

An idea as to the way they do things may be taken from a set of articles that were drawn up while matching Georges Carpentier and Sullivan, who are matched to fight at Monte Carlo.

It reads: "Either boxer failing to continue the contest, after ten seconds have been counted, shall forfeit all points for that round, and the contest be stopped."

What use would the points be to the fellow that was counted out anyway? Perhaps they may intend to give him credit for them. If they should ever have a return match.

There is a big negro that resembles Jack Johnson traveling over Europe posing as the conqueror of Jim Jeffries. He was picked up by a clever manager, who took him all over Italy and Switzerland and advertised him as the real Jack Johnson, who defeated Jeffries at Reno before 250,000 people.

Later he was entertained at Toulon by the officers of a French fleet, which happened to be in the harbor at the time. It is said that the champagne flowed deep enough to float the ship, and they came very near inviting the Minister of Marine to the show. Andrew Dixon is the name of the big coon, but he and his manager got away with it and made a lot of money.

The Englishmen are complaining that too many of their good boxers come to the States. Most of the boys that have come over in the last few years were either their champions or near-champions. English boxers as well as Australians always did better in this country than in their own and always made more money. Still, none of them ever won a championship in this country.

Bob Fitzsimmons is the only foreigner that ever won a championship in this country; but then, he really did most of his fighting here. Few of the foreigners seem to have the stamina that Americans do.

Unless Frank Mantell has improved a lot, we will not have much of a chance to see what Billy Papke is going to do in the come-back line. Papke knocked out Mantell and another fighter both in the same night several years ago in Boston, then returned later and repeated the performance by knocking out two more in the same night.

Papke is surely a good hitter when he is right; there is no better puncher in the game at the present time. If he comes back he should win the title without much trouble. There is not a middleweight in the country at the present time that could beat him when he is at his best.

Jack Killian, formerly with the Boston Red Sox, is to play with the Providence team this year.

FIGHT RESULTS.

there by Saturday or the fight with Mantell would be called off. Jones declares that his own private business is in such a shape here that he cannot leave it just at present, but it may be different with Papke.

"I am keeping Papke at Venice," said Jones, "because he is where I can watch him and I know that he has good care there. Now if I could be assured of good training quarters at Sacramento and could get several good sparring partners I see no reason why he could not go there Friday. I am interested in Jeffries' case, have a moving picture proposition on and am looking after Vol-gast and Conley, so you see I have my hands very well filled."

"Papke is not desirous of passing up the fight with Mantell for he thinks he can beat him easily and show that he is just as good as ever. If he can get training quarters and sparring partners he should be able to train at Sacramento just as well as at Venice. These are all we want. I have not heard from Sacramento in regard to any complaints about Papke not being there."

HERRICK HAS REP OF REAL LIVE WIRE.

Middleweight Herrick, who is to fight Bert Pagan here in a double bill on March 2 with Waugh and Tommy Kilbane on the other end, is to leave Thursday or Friday from Chicago with Jack White for this city and is due to arrive about Monday. Harry Gilmore, Frankie Conley's former manager, thinks Herrick is the coming middleweight champion.

Gilmore says that Herrick is but 20 years old and has never been defeated and has never even heard the referee counting over him, which means that he has not been knocked down long enough to be counted on.

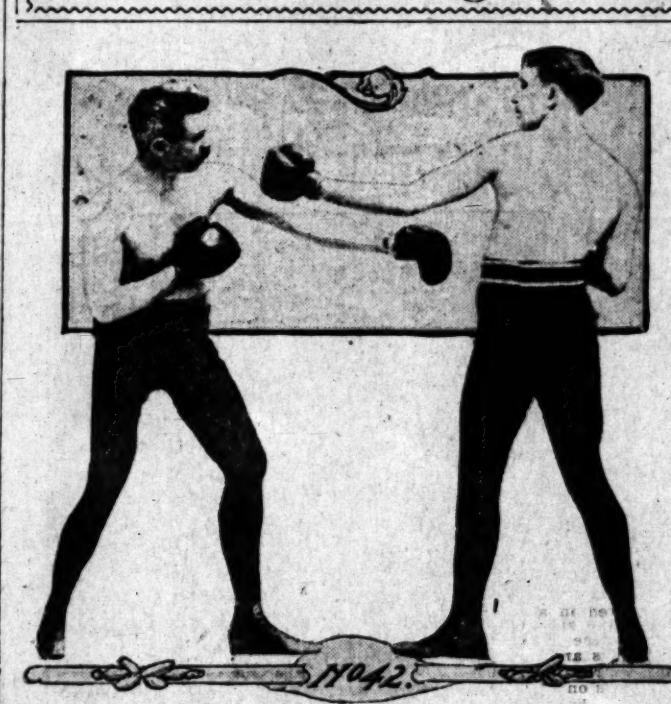

He fought two draws of twelve and fifteen rounds with the good Jack Dillion and won on a foul from Tom McMahon in three rounds. Among others he beat Frank Mantell in ten rounds, Jack McGinley in eight and Kid Asper in twelve rounds and is ready at any time to fight Klaus or any of the best of them.

Coffey Put Out.
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Chip, the Pittsburgh middleweight, knocked out Walter Coffey, the San Francisco middleweight, in the third round before the Olympic Athletic Club here tonight. Chip had the better of the milling from the start.

TOLEDO (O.) Feb. 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Johnny Billiter of Toledo, lightweight wrestler, tonight defeated Henry Wirth of Chicago, throwing him in fourteen minutes and thirty-eight seconds. Physicians pronounced the ligament in Wirth's ankle torn. Referee Peck thereupon awarded the match to Billiter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Manager Danny

Van Court's Boxing Lesson.

No. 42—A Feint for a Counter.
This feint will require more practice than any other, as the body should be slightly bent forward when about to deliver it. Bring the left foot a little closer than usual, at the same time work the arm forward and loosely toward your opponent, as shown in the cut. Suddenly pull the arm back, at the elbow, and strike with the other hand.

Long of the San Francisco Baseball Club said today that he had received the signed contract of "Kid" Mohler, who played second base for the team last season. Manager Long said that he would make Mohler captain of the team. Pitcher Noyes, who was tried out by Long toward the end of last season, also returned, his signed contract today.

Conklin in Front.
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] C. F. Conklin of Chicago, the international champion, today administered the second defeat Edward W. Gardner of East Orange, N. J., has experienced in the international amateur 182 balt-line billiard championship tournament. The score was 400 to 353.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: "The old-fashioned notion that it is beneficial to brush the hair until the arms are about to drop off no longer prevails," said the Hair Specialist. "A moderate amount of brushing is good, but the massage brushing, as I call it, is better than a great amount of aimless brushing. Place the brush firmly in one place upon the scalp and give it a rotary motion, several times in succession before moving it from that spot. In thus treating the entire scalp, you will receive more real 'exercise' for the hair than by means of hours of ordinary brushing. This kind of gymnastic exercise agitates the roots of the hair, which is the seat of life and health as well as growth."

A demonstration of the making of furniture of the best class, is in progress in a Broadway window of one of the manufacturers of these articles; and it is most interesting. It seems that all the material used in the class of furniture is grown in Capra, whence it is shipped to Germany for proper treatment. It is put through a process of cutting with cylindrical knives and is otherwise made presentable and then it comes to this country, come up in huge bales wrapped in jute.

The man who is at work in the Broadway window creates from a design furnished to him by his firm, working much as do the Indians, depending upon accurate movement of the fingers as well as precision of eye. The piece which I watched was a great divan of unique pattern and it was most fascinating to see its beauty grow beneath the workman's hands. Each read must be properly moistened before using, so that it will easily bend and adapt itself to threading in and out. After the piece is completed, it goes through several other processes. It must be shaved and have its hair cut, before it is fit to appear in polite society. It is as if the surfaces of the article to be shaved, to destroy the fine hairs which become roughed up, during work and then a burnishing process follows and this is followed by another burning—a kind of ready electric.

Was all this completed, comes the bleaching. Sounds like a "happy parlor" process were enough, don't it? The article is given a bath of chloride of lime and is allowed to stand in the sun for some hours. Now it is ready for public appearance. The thing of beauty and art, the furniture, appears to the eye as if it had been made of light, clean and soft of line, but because as in the case of the piece made in this Los Angeles factory, each is original and different than the catalogued things which can be bought by the carload. I am in the shop a high boy, such as I had not before seen in this ware; a hat of extraordinary lines, and a number of odd and pretty chairs for lounging and for formal use with a huge table, under order from Santa Barbara, will be something well worth a trip to Broadway to see when completed. It is a fact that the house receives orders from all the United States and, as I am, says, when Los Angeles dealers and myself and attracts the notice of the world.

Heart's Treasures.
In view of the approach of Valentine's day, one of the exclusive Broadway confectionery stores has a choice collection of hearts all ready for sending to the best girl. They are small, such as young people have—some of the first sentimental stages of the study of hearts—and they are hearts and are in every detail. These hearts are placed in heart-shaped boxes are warranted to win the heart of any recipient—especially if sent on the birthday of the Saint of all Saints.

Shoes for Shoes.
I have found a new use for the "duster," said the Busy Girl. "I happened to learn it by chance. I found my white gloves and was about to start out from home when I noticed that the patent leather of my shoes was dusty. I picked up the long duster and gave one of my shoes a good dusting. My shoes shined like the sun!" This "duster," she explained, was a small dish mop used in a certain cleaning oil which I used on my shoes. I told you about, some time ago.

New Flat.
The business girls have decided to do something in a flat which will be the best thing of the kind in the city. They are planning to have a flat which will be a place where they can go to when they are tired and want to rest. They are planning to have a flat which will be a place where they can go to when they are tired and want to rest.

Woman Candidate for Senator.
The expectation has happened. A woman—Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker—Denver—is running for United States Senator from Colorado. Because of the operation of the primary law, it seems, Mrs. Decker can have her name put on the ballots without consulting party leaders. She is conducting a vigorous campaign, appealing to the women voters to elect her.

For Blind Babies.
The International Sunshine Society, which has a number of branches in Los Angeles and Southern California, has taken up as its special work, the care and training of blind babies, with the most remarkable results. Mrs. Cynthia Weaver Alden, founder and president of the society, whose parents, by the way, reside at Santa Monica, is deeply interested in the work.

Until a few years ago there was no institution fully equipped for the care, maintenance and education of babies who are born blind. But now there is an exceptionally fine one at Summit, N. J.—a large stone building, with nursery, hospital, home and kindergarten departments. The society has proven by actual experiment that the blind baby will grow up into a beautiful, normal, healthy child, with the exception that it has no eyesight. To prove this, eighty-two so-called blind idiots and feeble-minded children from different States were placed in the institution and given the best care and training that could be secured, and only two out of the entire number failed to respond.

IF HE KISSED THEM ALL
This Justice Must Have Been Pretty Busy, for He Married Six Couples in One Afternoon.
An excited man in the uniform of a Pacific Electric conductor dashed into Justice Summerfield's courtroom yesterday afternoon while a case was being tried.

DEFENSE TO ASK AN EARLY TRIAL.
DARROW BRIBERY CASE TO BE SET THIS MORNING.

Persistent Rumors that Indicted Attorney Will Plead Guilty if Given Assurance of Clemency Strongly Denied by Defense. Case for Prosecution a Strong One.

Active preparations for the trial of Clarence Darrow were begun by Asst. Atty. Gen. Ford yesterday. Bert H. Franklin, former confidential agent for the McNamara defense, was in conference with Ford for some time yesterday morning. It is presumed that Franklin reviewed various bits of testimony that he is prepared to give when called as the chief witness for the prosecution in the bribery trial.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.
BY SYDNEY YORD.
The women who have so deeply at heart the proposition of the Home for needy little children are working like Trojans to raise the required sum to build this haven of rest and recreation for the thousands of children who are in need of it.

WOMAN'S CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.
The expectation has happened. A woman—Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker—Denver—is running for United States Senator from Colorado. Because of the operation of the primary law, it seems, Mrs. Decker can have her name put on the ballots without consulting party leaders.

Death Takes Native Daughter Whose Family Formerly Possessed Much of Southern California.
Mrs. Elizabeth Plance, a native daughter whose family once possessed a large tract of land in Southern California, and who herself at one time owned the present site of the city of Redlands, died early Monday morning at the Glendale Sanatorium following a sickness of about six weeks' duration.

Another Woman Recovers.
Newton, N.H.—"For five years I suffered from female weakness and dragging down pains. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored my health and the pains are gone."—Mrs. F. A. PEASLEE, R.F.D., Box 88.

CALL IT FREEZE-OUT.

WANT THEIR MONEY BACK. A suit to rescind a contract and to return money paid for stock, was filed in Judge Monro's court yesterday.

The action grew out of the stock of the Superior Bakery and Biscuit Company to establish branch stores throughout the city.

The plaintiff was C. W. Hopkins for and as assignee of E. E. Hopkins, John Schmitt and A. R. Schmitt, who alleged that he and the company entered into an agreement with the Superior Bakery and Biscuit Company by which they were to be employed at the branch stores at a salary of $15 a week and to receive 1 per cent. on all sales in excess of $125 a week. They were to pay for four shares of the capital stock of the company at $125 a share. They paid $500 for the stock on July 1, 1911. Hopkins alleged that the company closed the stores and returned the stock to him and that the stock was returned to him without the principal stock and later dis posed. Judgment was asked for the return of the money.

The company asserted it had called on the twelve managers of the branch stores and discussed the possibility of closing them at some date. It offered a paying proposition to the twelve managers accepted the proposition. The court was asked to determine whether there had been a termination and also that the company had the right to terminate the agreement.

The court will decide the case.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Two Men Arraigned Twice Before Judge on Same Charge—Explanations Save Double Fines.

Police Judge Rose's inability to dispose of fifty cases on his calendar yesterday morning in less than half an hour resulted in two defendants being arraigned twice before him on the same charge, the second coming growing out of the defendants' having waited forty minutes to have a hearing on the first charge.

"That's what you might call manifest or carbon paper justice," commented the court.

The defendants are George W. Palmer, No. 515 Pay building, and A. H. Henry, building contractor, No. 2335 Montclair avenue. They were arrested the first time for having left their autos more than thirty minutes in the downtown district.

When they went to the court they left their machines in front of the receiving hospital on South Hill street. It was forty minutes before Judge Rose reached their cases and they were fined $2 each.

When Palmer and Henry returned to their machines they found a patrolman waiting them. There was no second fine after the circumstances had been explained.

Knows All Along.

Muck Chuck proved a knowing Chinese when arraigned before Police Judge Rose yesterday for having lottery tickets in his possession. At his side stood an interpreter. The complaint was read, and the interpreter began talking when Muck nodded his head, and grinned:

"Me sabbe."

"Does he plead guilty or not guilty?" asked the court.

The interpreter tried again, but Muck headed him off with another "Me sabbe," and a grin, and the exclamation:

"Me sabbe."

"Twenty-five dollars or twenty-five days?" said the court.

"Yep, me cheap sabbe," said Muck, grinning broader than ever, as he produced a handful of gold.

The Magic Word.

Police Judge Rose announced yesterday that his courtroom is not a losing place. He supplied that proclamation when he said in the future persons who have no business there need not congregate as "spectators." The judge, reviewing his police cases, was unable to hear the defendants. Losing patience, he said to the men and women in the room:

"This is no room for loafers. If you have no business here, get out."

Only one or two persons withdrew. The judge waited a moment, and then said:

"Get up and go out before I have my bailiff throw you out."

At that there was a general exit after which there was "room to spare" when the court resumed hearing the cases.

Time for Reflection.

"You have had a narrow escape from being prosecuted for highway robbery," said Judge Rose to H. B. Fernald yesterday morning. Fernald was shot through the left hand early Saturday morning, following an altercation with Olaf Bakka, who received an ugly scalp wound, and while wrestling with a watchman.

When the testimony brought out that Fernald is a former deputy constable and he still carried his badge, Judge Rose caustically remarked:

"All of which goes to indorse previous statements by me that there is too indiscriminate issuance of commissions to irresponsible persons. When this man's duties as deputy constable expire the county authorities should have obtained the badge."

Fernald was sentenced to twenty-five days in jail.

Suspected Hold-up Jailed.

Frank Jackson, also known to the police as Frank Elwell, was arraigned before Judge Rose yesterday morning on a charge of intoxication. He was arrested in front of No. 350 Boyle avenue, with a revolver in one hand and an electric flashlight in the other.

"He has been partially identified as the man who held up several men on Boyle Heights," said Detective Leon. "But we have no conclusive evidence."

Judge Rose sentenced the young man to fifty days and suspended sentence upon his promise to never return to Los Angeles.

Check Artist Jailed.

Robert McPherson, a youth who gave the police considerable trouble before they could locate him, was bound over to the Superior Court yesterday by Police Judge Frederickson to answer to a charge of having issued bogus checks. Bail was fixed at $2000, in default of which the young man went to jail.

UNREASONABLE AUTO.

An automobile driven by M. Barton was wrecked when it collided with a street car at Washington street and Seventh avenue, yesterday morning. Motorman Holms was in charge of the car.

OVER HEAD OF THE MAGISTRATE.

JUSTICES AND POLICEMEN SPAT OVER TRANSFER.

Acting Head of the Purty Squad Makes a Little Independent Change of Venue in Inferior Court Cases and Gets Into Hot Water Over It—Bench Is Wroth.

The friction between the administration and members of the police court over the prosecution of dissolute women, alleged houses of immorality and other cases largely handled by the purty squad, assumed a new phase yesterday morning when Acting Sgt. Vary of the squad transferred five cases against women from Judge Rose's court at the Central Station to Judge Williams' court at the University Station. Some of the women pleaded guilty and others demanded jury trials.

Sgt. Vary's actions excited the ire of Judge Rose, who laid, with some heat:

"If that is the way they are going to do, hereafter I refuse to handle cases for the City Prosecutor's office. I will make them go to trial, and if they have not sufficient evidence to convict, why, the blame is on them where it may."

Justice Frederickson, who is the presiding magistrate, remarked:

"They can't work that kind of a game on me. The next time I attempt it I'll simply order Justice Williams to transfer the cases to the judge here at the Central Station, whom week it is to try the police cases."

When City Prosecutor Eddie was asked if a policeman could lodge a complaint in any court he saw fit, he replied in the affirmative. He added:

"The presiding justice can re-transfer the case if he sees fit."

Sgt. Vary refused yesterday to say from whom he got his orders, remarking in a good-natured way:

"I got my orders from the next best man, but followed them."

When asked who he got his orders from, he replied:

"Ah, my boy, that is another matter. I got my orders and that is all there is to it."

When Capt. Haupt, in command of the Central Station, was interrogated, he said:

"There was a little mix-up this morning. The women and the cases were sent over to the University Court but the bail money was kept in Judge Rose's court. I went up to Clerk O'Brien, explained the situation and then the money was sent out to Justice Williams' Court. I can not talk about orders."

Chief Sebastian declared he was ignorant of any orders, saying he had not issued any. He did say, however, it was possible for such orders to have been issued.

There has been friction between the judiciary and the administration for some weeks over the prosecution of so-called purty squad cases. It came to an open rupture in court about two weeks ago when Police Judge Frederickson announced that he would not convict in certain cases under certain conditions on the unsupported evidence of police officers.

SIGN REFERENDUM.

Three Thousand Voters in One Day Ask That Ordinances to Regulate Street Car Fares Be Submitted.

Slightly circumscribed by John P. Steele, who is getting the 25,000 signatures required for the referendum on the ordinance regulating street-car fares, popularly known as the "three-cent fare" measure, reported last night with nearly 3000 names.

Steele says that his men report that they find the people well informed as to the menace of the law in stopping street railway improvement and expansion and do not hesitate to affix their names.

Steele believes that there will be little difficulty in obtaining the necessary number of signatures to suspend the law until the people have a chance to vote on it at the next election. The result of yesterday's work was regarded as a minimum of what is possible within the next few days.

MYSTERIOUSLY ROBBED.

George Martin, No. 149 South Grand avenue, was robbed of a $100 diamond stick pin, a gold watch and chain and $20 in money Monday night, following a visit with J. S. Sankey, a friend, at the Hotel Van Nuys. The two men were in the cafe when a bell boy notified Sankey that he was wanted in the office. When Sankey returned to the cafe Martin was gone. The latter did not reach home until about 10 o'clock. He was in a dazed condition and minus his jewelry and money. Martin declared he has no idea who robbed him after leaving the cafe or who helped himself to his valuables.

USE DIAMOND CUTTER.

By using a diamond cutter, robbers cut the glass front of the pawnshop at No. 210 South Main street Monday night and secured two revolvers. Later the residence of Earl Crandall on College drive, between Laurel and Western avenues, was entered, and the crime is charged to the same men. The Crandall place was entered by breaking a pane of glass.

Don't Let Skin and Hair Show Your Age

"Don't look old until you have to. A clear, soft complexion makes any woman look younger than she is. To preserve your complexion, use powders and creams sparingly. If at all. In the morning, rub the face, neck and arms gently with a lotion made by dissolving a small original package of mayonaise in half a pint of witch hazel. It won't harm the most delicate skin, and it gives a dainty natural color that is most attractive."

"If any treatment will make hair grow, dry shampooing with therox will. Just put a cupful of cornmeal in a fruit jar, mix in well an original package of therox, sprinkle a little of the mixture on the head once a week, and brush out thoroughly. It makes the hair clean, soft, silky and lustrous—and easy to do up."

"Aches and pains make a woman look old. To stop ache in back or joints, to reduce swellings, to keep every day for the next eight days, we have in the past two, we will be able to pay dollar for dollar."

"It was simply a case of have to have the money, no matter what we

The well has been flowing at the rate of about eighty-five to 100 barrels per day of a light oil resembling kerosene. An attempt was made to put in a standing valve a few days ago and it was found that the paraffine was so thick in the tubing that it was almost impossible to force the rods through the casing.

They expect to spend a busy day in Coalinga, remaining here all night, and departing the next day for the southern oil fields.

As a result of the forced sale of men's clothing and furnishings of the firm of Monroe-Davis-Herington at 6th and Spring sts., owing to a demand from eastern creditors for cash, the big store was thronged with eager buyers all day yesterday, who seemed to realize that every article offered for sale was an unusual bargain.

"So vast was the throng of people that it was almost impossible to serve them as promptly as we should like to have, even with our additional force of clerks," said Mr. Herington, senior member of the firm, last night.

"However, we exerted every effort to please everyone, but the crowds were so much larger than we ever anticipated that undoubtedly there were a number of people who had to leave the store without being waited upon."

"As a result, we have employed twenty-five additional clerks and we are on hand tomorrow morning and we trust that everyone who was compelled to leave the store without waiting in these tremendous bargains will return today. There will be plenty of clerks to wait upon them without delay."

MAKE MONEY IN OIL

If you buy the right stocks at the right time you can make big money in California Oil Securities. The very best buy on the market today.

We have been telling you about this Company for one week. Our advertising campaign commenced last Thursday, when ILLINOIS CRUDE was quoted at 6 cents per share on the San Francisco Exchange—had you bought at that time and sold yesterday you could have made $90.00 on every $60.00 you invested.

ILLINOIS CRUDE sold on the San Francisco Exchange yesterday at 15 cents per share, closing quotations were 15 cents bid, 16 cents asked; quite a nice little profit that you might have made had you acted promptly.

The ILLINOIS CRUDE OIL COMPANY is incorporated under the laws of the State of California, with a capital stock of 200,000 shares, each of a par value of $1.00. The Company's property consists of a lease in the heart of the Kern River District, producing oil wells. The Company has already earned and paid over $80,000 in dividends. The management of the Company is in the hands of Colonel Tim Spellacy, President; H. W. Thomas, Secretary. This Company has been producing shipping and selling oil for years—at the present time it has over 30,000 barrels of oil in storage. Air compressors are being put on the wells to should double their capacity very soon—in fact, we should not be all surprised to see Illinois Crude go back upon a dividend basis within the next 90 days—should it come back on a dividend paying basis or not within 90 days, one thing is certain—the stock is selling too low today and is bound to advance 10 or 15 cents per share within the next three or four weeks.

If you want a Speculation which is a SURE MONEY MAKER, strongly urge you to let us have your order at once for ILLINOIS CRUDE at the market price. We will execute your order for any amount from 100 shares up.

Write, wire or telephone (Main 3537).

If you want to make money out of this stock, do not hesitate any longer, but let us have your order immediately. If you want to be posted on the Oil Stock market in California—and if you want to make money by buying when stocks are low and selling when stocks are high, get your name
